I. Project description

We would like to offer the position of a PhD student. In this project, we will focus on finding the consequences of mutations identified in miRNA genes for cancer cell functioning. We will analyze the influence of mutations on the crucial features of miRNA precursors that ensure their proper maturation in cells as well as their impact on the regulation of gene expression. We expect to distinguish deleterious from benign or neutral mutations, and maybe even to identify oncogenic driver mutations.

Institute of Bioorganic Chemistry Polish Academy of Sciences (IBCH PAS) is one of the leading research entities specialized in chemistry, molecular biology and biomedicine in Poland (the number and quality of research papers published and grants awarded). The job will be performed in a young, dynamic group, providing opportunities for successful publishing of research results. A position in the project is a great chance to develop and gain further experience in genetics and bioinformatics, and also access to cutting-edge technologies. Experience attained at IBCH PAS, and within the group in which the project will be implemented, give a solid ground for future applications for various types of scholarships/grants.
